(This information will be posted on the Outdoor Heritage Fund/Industrial Commission website)

This summer a portable boathouse was placed near the river downtown in the Grand Forks, ND Greenway. The boathouse offers rental opportunities for canoes, kayaks, and paddleboards for use on the Red River. This new service highlighted the need for a safe, easy method for accessing the river. The riverbank near the boathouse is steep and muddy, which can be difficult to navigate.

The city of Grand Forks worked with a local engineering firm to design a concrete trail from the boathouse to a suitable site along the river. This trail was designed as an extension off an existing trail and is 340' in length. The trail was designed to provide safe, easy access to the riverbank for people of all skills and abilities. The trail is built of concrete to provide a stable foundation for city crews to drive equipment to the site of a future docking system.

It isn't just river users that benefit from this new trail. Many Greenway users appreciate the view of the river and its natural setting. Future plans include seating areas, shelters, and other amenities for enjoyment in this scenic setting.

The costs for this project exceeded the original estimate of $100,00. The city of Grand Forks provided additional funding to cover this increase in cost and finish the project.

Photos of work completed are welcome (If appropriate, please submit photos of key elements of the project completed or in progress during reporting period) Do not exceed five photos per project report.
