OUTDOOR HERITAGE FUND ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS

BISMARCK, N.D. – The North Dakota Industrial Commission is currently accepting applications through March 1, 2022, for the North Dakota Outdoor Heritage Fund Program.

North Dakota's Outdoor Heritage Fund was established in 2013 by the Legislature as a multi-million dollar program to provide grants to state agencies, tribal governments, political subdivisions, and nonprofit organizations for projects that will:

- Provide access to private and public lands for sportsmen, including projects that create fish and wildlife habitat;
- Improve, maintain and restore water quality, soil conditions, plant diversity, and animal systems, and support other practices of stewardship to enhance farming and ranching;
- Develop and enhance the conservation and restoration of wildlife and fish habitat on private and public lands; and
- Conserve natural areas and create other areas for recreation through the establishment and development of parks and recreation areas.

For the application and more information, visit: <http://www.nd.gov/ndic/outdoor-infopage.htm>. Contact Karlene Fine (701-328-3722) with questions.

The North Dakota Outdoor Heritage Fund Program is overseen by the North Dakota Industrial Commission, consisting of the governor, attorney general and agriculture commissioner.
